OBITUARY

Carl Jamal Lawrence was born on August 2nd, 1982 to John and Marie Lawrence (Kane). He was raised by and was the third of Marie's seven children.

Carl was educated in the Philadelphia School District. He then went on to master his cooking skills at the Restaurant School of Philadelphia.

Carl had an amazing bubbly personality and the most contagious laugh. He had the ability to light up any room with his big personality. He worked hard to support his fiancée (Stephanie) and his two children (Abigayle and Chase). His two children were his whole world it was rare to see him without them by his side. He truly was one of the good ones.

Carl loved the Philadelphia Phillies and the Pittsburgh Steelers. He loved to write poetry and experiment with food. On Saturday October 1st, 2016 the lord decided Carl had fulfilled his purpose on earth and was called home.

He leaves to cherish his memories: his mother, Marie Lawrence(Kane), his father, John Lawrence, three sisters, Nasheda, Tawana, and Kyiesha Johnson, three brothers, Eric Kane, John Lawrence, and Jay Johnson, a fiancée, Stephanie Dwyer, two children, Chase and Abigayle Lawrence, hosts of nieces, nephews, cousins, godchildren, and countless friends.

Beautiful Angel

My children mean the world to me, when they look into my eyes and say daddy I love you. They are beautiful angels. I love to watch them both grow and learn together. My beautiful angels. Daddy will always be here, my beautiful angels.-Carl Lawrence

Hi Mom Poem

Hi mom, it was me who went and helped you when you needed help. Hi mom, it was me who went to school and got my diploma for you. Hi mom, I love you mom, you helped me all of my life. I did something with my life. I learned how to cook for you mom. Hi mom, we always talk to each other like friends now mom. Hi mom, I miss you so much. Hi mom, you can say whatever to me, but you are in my heart. Bye mom, I will always love you!!
